Dear Sir:

I take the liberty to send you to-day a specimen of a Euphorbiaceae of genus Croton, the species of which I do not find mentioned in your valuable "Manual of the N. United States".
It resembles somewhat the description of C. monanthogynous.
The plant and flowers have a strong odor of Mint. — If I were assured, that I would not trespass upon your valuable time or impose upon your kindness, I would ask you
